

Collaborating with Community Health Partners

Working together is success

K-State Research and Extension is committed to improving the health and wellness of individuals, families, and communities. We provide research-based education and, with our partners, implement proven strategies to address local health issues.

As the outreach arm of Kansas State University, K-State Research and Extension has tools and resources to be a helpful partner with you. When we combine our resources, we can make a larger impact on the health and wellness in our community.

We facilitate community conversations to better identify and prioritize community needs and work with others to enhance impact and success.

- Let's work together to assess the needs in our community.
- Let's coordinate and provide local programming.
- Let's coordinate to provide local educational programming and health-related initiatives.

Who We Are

We are change-makers. We have the connections, the research and resources, but we cannot do it alone. We seek to assist partner agencies in coordinating resources and implementing programs that address local issues. We are determined to make a difference and work with others for the betterment of our communities.
